

WORDS SURFACING . early September 2006
Adam Overton

.

the seductiveness of being understood or the seductiveness of feeling like you're being understood

.

touché:
- (in fencing) used as an acknowledgment of a hit by one's opponent.
- used as an acknowledgment during a discussion of a good or clever point made at one's expense by another person.
ORIGIN French, literally 'touched' ...
(source: Apple Dictionary, v.1.0.1)

.

alone together (jazz standard remembered)

.